Hi all,

Please find in this shared folder the Scrap Tire & Rubber Users Directory for 2015 that might be helpful in this task. Scrap Tire News maintains the directory and updates it every year if anyone is interested in purchasing the latest directory. Please do not share this link or the document with anyone outside this email chain. Thank you!

Hopefully this is helpful,
Chris

Subject: RE: Helping Out: tire project

Hi Lorraine and others,

Why restrict the inquiry to the Southwest? Not our EPA region. Inquiry should be all lower 48. Alaska and Hawaii are different from lower 48 in too many ways to include them in the same inquiry.

If Sabrina has not already done so, I recommend saving lots of trouble by contacting what used to be the Rubber Manufacturers' Association (RMA), that historically has kept much of the data that Kimiko calls for. Also, Chris Carusiello at HQs may have done the same.

Also perhaps contact Liberty Tire in Pittsburgh, which is one of largest waste tire processors in the nation.

I will look up what RMA calls itself now and send a link.

Kimiko suggested that our summer intern, Sabrina, research information about tire recycling and put in a spreadsheet.

Are there other categories of info she should consider?

Could you look up all tire recyclers in the US, primarily in the Southwest, and find out their rates, shipping requirements, what is done with the tires (e.g., tire derived fuel for cement kilns) and put it in an excel spreadsheet table with name address website contact info rates, shipping requirements, processing type and any other notes.

It's not that much fun but how about cold calling some potential FRC people?

Or you could do my contracting courses for me. I cant bear much more.
